

BIO 7385: Global Change Ecology

Explores roles of ecology in documenting, responding, feeding back to, and mitigating human-caused changes to Earth's chemistry, geography and climate. Accompanying lab includes ecological techniques, such as carbon flux measurements, and develop independent research projects in the laboratory. Prerequisite: Course in ecology or permission of instructor.

Credits: 4.0

Program: Biology