

CSC 8570: User/System Interface

The design and measurement of human-computer interfaces, with the objectives of developing models of user communities, summarizing current research in user-oriented design, defining design criteria for the user/system interface, and constructing test strategies for interactive software systems.

Credits: 3.0

Program: Computing Sciences