

CSC 8525: Computer Vision

Graduate research seminar exploring the algorithms and state-of-the-art techniques in the field of computer vision and image processing. Topics include image processing, pattern recognition, feature detection, image and object segmentation, computational photography, object detection, and face recognition. A familiarity with linear algebra and statistical methods is recommended but not required.

Credits: 3.0

Program: Computing Sciences