

MBA 8630: Importance of Emerging Markets

This course will teach what process, strategic framework and philosophy one needs to have to effectively leverage the great potential of emerging markets. This course will also provide the guidance to critically evaluate the dynamics and characteristics of emerging markets as well as provide the guidance to identify the opportunities and the strategies to implement in order to be successful.

Credits: 1.5

Prerequisites:

MBA 8450 and MBA 8650