

NUR 9515: Foundations in Nursing Science

An examination of scientific developments from premodern through postmodern paradigms that have shaped scientific thought in nursing as well analyses of concepts related to health, nursing, ethics, education, diversity and/or cultural competence as they relate to research and theory development.

Credits: 4.0