

NUR 9516: Psychometrics

This course addresses frameworks, theories and principles of measurement in nursing and health research, and the design, testing, and evaluation of instruments for measuring nursing and health phenomena in a variety of clinical, educational and health service research settings.

Credits: 2.0